Norberg Charges Carmel YC Lacks Moral Restraints

At last night's city council meeting, Councilman Gunnar Norberg made a hit and run attack on the Carmel Youth Center. He roused Mayor John Chitwood to white-faced anger, and stunned the city council members and citizens in the audience.

Norberg charged, "The proper kind of moral restraints and ethical guidance are thought to be lacking."

He added that "lots of people" think the Youth Center should be under a church group or the Y. M. C. A.

Norberg's attack came during the reading of an emergency clause affixed to an ordinance which changes the recreation commission organization so as to provide for the city to make all appointments to the board and have sole fiscal authority. The present recreation commission divides authority between school district and city. The school district contributes $3,100 a year to the operation of the youth center; the Community Chest $6,000. The school district now finds that it cannot legally contribute to the support of the youth center through the recreation commission in which it participates, but can through a joint powers agreement with the city. It is a technicality with which the proposed ordinance would comply. The ordinance was not at issue, and apparently Norberg took no issue with it. It was during the reading of the emergency clause, which is necessary to make the ordinance immediately effective that Norberg took exception to the words in the emergency clause: "In that the Youth Center provides proper and suitable recreation for the Youth of Carmel."

"Lots of people think that this is not a proper program for youth. That it (the Youth Center) should be put under a church group or the YMCA," Norberg stated.

Councilman Buffington recovered first from the shock; he pointed out that there are representatives of the churches on the Youth Center Adult Board.

Mayor John Chitwood demanded of Norberg what he meant. "Just what have you heard?"

Norberg said that he'd heard that the proper kind of moral restraints and ethical guidance are thought to be missing.

"Is this your opinion or somebody else's opinion?" the mayor demanded.

Attorney John Morse, a man of peace, hastily pointed out that the wording of the emergency clause could be changed.

Councilman Allen Knight said he'd served on the Youth Center board. "The Youth Center is well run. I seriously question Norberg's charges."

Mayor Chitwood said that incidents do happen among youth that are not ethical but you can't blame the Youth Center. He said he'd been on the adult board for 10 years. "I'm fairly informed about what happens there (at the Youth Center). I've attended all the parties to which the public has been invited. I haven't seen you (Norberg) there."

Mayor Loses Fight To Eliminate Carmel Forest Commission

After a heated debate, the city council voted to fill two vacancies on the Carmel Forest Commission by appointment, and to amend the ordinance so that the Commissioner of Streets, Councilman James Buffington, need not serve on the commission. The latter was at Councilman Buffington's request. The street commissioner's serving as a forest commission member gives rise to embarrassments and difficulties, he said.

Mayor John Chitwood vigorously opposed making the new appointments and the continuance of the forest commission. He said the two men who had resigned had done so because the council had refused to comply with their request to hire a city forester. He said he did not wish to see the city embark on a $25,000 forestry project, which would pyramid into nobody knows what costs and complications.

Other council members and speakers from the audience said that the council did not need to embark on such a program or hire (Continued On Page Sixteen)

S.P.C.A. Meeting Tonight On Mike's Suffering In Pound

The Monterey Peninsula Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will discuss means of preventing an injured and unidentified dog's lying without medical attention in the county pound, such as this week end, according to the Countess of Kinnoull, S. P. C. A. president. The matter will be considered at the society's meeting at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

Lady Kinnoull stated yesterday that the S.P.C.A. already has a verbal agreement with local veterinarians that all animals in distress, identified or not, may be treated at the society's expense, or that the injured animal may be taken to the S.P.C.A. shelter for treatment. She deplored the fact that on Saturday when a Seaside veterinarian refused to treat an injured dog that neither another veterinarian nor the S.P.C.A. were called.

The death of Mike, 13-months-old German shorthair hunting dog, following an overnight stay in the county animal shelter with an untreated gunshot wound, was reported to the County Board of Supervisors on Monday by the dog's owner, Charles L. Winter of Yankee Point. Mr. Winter is also offering $100 reward for information (Continued on Page Four)

Earl Bernard Murray No Member Of Rumpus Hair School Of Conducting

By RAYLYN PENNEY

"Don't be so eager to talk among yourselves," Earl Murray told the orchestra. He added, almost regretfully, "talking is a thing I have no time for."

This comment during the Monterey County Symphony rehearsal of a week ago effectively sums up the position of the youthful and experimentally minded new conductor of the orchestra.

You Can Buy A Car Or A Kitten At P.T.A. Carnival Saturday

A steer, two cars, a 1950 Buick and a 1950 Ford, kittens, washing machines, cribs, couches, a typewriter, an encyclopedia, a record player, radios and a set of sliding glass doors will be auctioned by members of Carmel High School's senior class at the P.T.A.-Girls' League Scholarship Carnival on Saturday. These are bigger items in the auction, according to Pat Boyle, chairman of the senior class auction committee. There are many smaller articles, Pat promises. The carnival starts at 11:00 o'clock and continues until 4:00. There will be a community dance in the evening.

The High School P.T.A. unit is operating four booths at the carnival. The Garden Corner will offer a healthy supply of potted plants which have been donated by nurseries, according to Mrs. L. S. Shields, chairman of this booth. Parents are also donating plants, she adds. Planters for sale are the (Continued on Page Four)

Vote On Pen. JC In May

At 7:00 o'clock Monday night Carmel Unified School Board, at its regular meeting in the high school board room, will probably change a deadline date set in a resolution at a special meeting this Tuesday of intention to call an election to annex to a Monterey Junior College District.

The resolution passed Tuesday night by the Carmel board was contingent upon Monterey High School district's forming a Junior College District to be effective February 1. Monterey, running into difficulties because of a time lapse in financing the proposed Monterey Junior College, had decided on Monday to wait and see.

Carmel and Pacific Grove boards, however, went ahead with their resolution, Carmel stipulating the February 1 deadline so as not to be indefinitely committed to Monterey.

Yesterday, the Carmel, Pacific Grove and Monterey boards were informed that failure on the part of Monterey to form a junior college district by February 1 would not put off realizing a Peninsula Junior College district until 1962, as they had been advised earlier in the week.

The Monterey Union High School Board of Trustees petitioned the State Board of Education, at a special meeting last night, for permission to call an election in March of 1960 for the purpose of forming a junior college district "co-terminous with the present Monterey Union High School District" (Continued on Page Sixteen)

Fire Department Has Hose Fight Tonight, Open House Saturday

This is Fire Prevention Week and on Saturday afternoon from 1:00-5:00 o'clock the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department will hold open house for the townspeople. Coffee and doughnuts will be served to adults, and ice cream to all children accompanied by parents.

Tonight, after the fire siren blows, the Fire Department's annual hose fight will take place at the intersection of Ocean Avenue and San Carlos Street. Spectators are warned that it will be wise to wear waterproof clothing.

Busloads of children from River and Woods School went to the firehouse yesterday. Today other pupils from the two schools are being shown the fire fighting equipment of the Carmel Fire Department and how firemen live when on duty. The firehouse visits will continue through tomorrow, according to Fire Chief Robert Smith.

The children's visits follow a Fire Prevention Week Carmel tradition. Only change is that instead of riding to the firehouse in fire trucks, taking turns ringing the bell and sounding the siren, now pupils travel in school buses.

"Too many for the fire trucks, now," says Chief Smith.

CARMEL GRIDDERS JOURNEY TO KING CITY FRIDAY NIGHT

With first place at stake in both the varsity and junior-varsity divisions, Carmel High's footballers make the long trek to King City tomorrow night for a showdown with the rugged Blue & White aggregations. While the Padres were winning a pair from the Gilroy Mustangs last week end, the King City squads gained a win and tie with the San Lorenzo Valley teams. King City's varsity clipped the Big Cougars, 36 to 12, while the Ponies and Cougar Babes played to a 6-6 deadlock.

King City has its best team in six years this season and Coach Ernie Piper's charges are making the deceptive single-wing attack hum with power and precision. With sprinters from the track team manning all the backfield spots, the Mustangs are loaded with swift and will offer a severe test for the defense-minded Padres. Two good passers and three excellent receivers make King City dangerous through the airplanes and the Carmel secondary will have to shore up the spotty pass defense if it hopes to control the King City aeriels.

Carmel's opening offensive unit against King City will be Doyle Clayton and Chris Wilkin, ends; Tim Mitchell and Tom Green, tackles; Ron Adams and Nick Molitor, guards; Harrison Hilbert, center; Frank Mayo, quarterback; Ron Faia and Mike Draper, halfbacks; and David Hansen, fullback. On defense, the Padres will go with Toby Edson and Brian LeNeve, ends; Chris Wilkin and Tim Mitchell, tackles; Doug McClurg and Harrison Hilbert, guards; Fred Bucher and Paul Rice, linebackers; Russ Wise and Darrell Clark, halfbacks; and Frank Mayo, safety.

PADRES WIN PAIR FROM GILROY MUSTANGS

Carmel High's varsity and junior-varsity football squads opened the league season with a pair of unexpected wins over the powerful Gilroy Mustangs and hurdled one of the toughest opponents they will have to face during the current campaign. The Little Padres clipped the visiting Ponies, 13 to 0, with Frank Bucher showing the way with his pinpoint passing. Carmel's varsity finished in front, 34 to 6, but the final score doesn't tell the complete story of the game. The Mustangs were tough all the way and the scrappy Padre squad had to capitalize on the breaks to subdue the league favorites.

Probing for an opening during the entire first quarter, the Carmel varsity found the answer early in the second heat as David Hansen, hard-running fullback, sprinted through Gilroy's left tackle for the initial score. A 34-yard pass play from Russ Wise to Mike Draper set up Hansen's scoring thrust. Doyle Clayton kicked the extra-point to give the Padres a 7-0 lead and they weren't to be headed in this game. Coach Red Elder's Mustangs, stung by the Padre touchdown, roared back for a score of their own following the next kickoff. Mike Elder, Coach Elder's 200-pound son, found a gaping hole at the Padre right tackle spot and raced 76 yards for the Mustang's score. John Wilkin smothered a run attempt for the conversion and Gilroy had finished scoring for the day.

Carmel got touchdown number two midway in the second quarter when quarterback Frank Mayo threw a strike to end Doyle Clayton who tossed a lateral to David Hansen for a 25-yard scoring romp. Clayton's kick again split the up-rights and the Padres had a 14-6 margin when the teams left the field for the halftime intermission.

The breaks came good and fast for Carmel in the second half as Fred Bucher, a whale of a line-backer all day, intercepted a Mustang aerial and turned it into a touchdown by passing off to Ron Faia for a touchdown. Clayton's kick, attempted after a five-yard penalty, was wide of the mark and the third period ended with Carmel leading, 20 to 6. Halfback Joe Zoellin scooted eight yards for Carmel's fourth score after Ron Faia had blazed 58 yards on a wide reverse. Final Padre score came on a 30-yard pass from quarterback Frank Mayo to halfback Mike Draper. Clayton's conversion kicks were good on both touchdowns and the final score had the Padres in front, 34 to 6.

A look at the statistics shows the ball was moved around with reckless abandon in this game. The visiting Mustangs racked up 19 first downs to 23 for the Padres as Gilroy gained 224 yards to 350 for the Red & Gray. Ron Faia picked up 220 yards in 23 carries to lead the Carmel ball-carriers with Mike Elder leading the Mustangs from his fullback spot. Mike rushed for 113 yards on 10 carries for an average of 11 yards per carry and made 90 per cent of the Gilroy tackles while playing a defensive linebacker position.

Outstanding defensive jobs were turned in by Padre linemen John Wilkin, Brian LeNeve, Toby Edson, Tim Mitchell, Doug McClurg, and Clayton Hilbert. Carmel's rugged linebacking duo of Paul Rice and Fred Bucher is rapidly developing into the best in Carmel High history and rates high in CCAL circles this season.

Accurate passes from Frank Bucher to Scott Forbes, Mike Quarrie, and Bill Coleman moved the Carmel junior-varsity to a pair of quick touchdowns in the first half and the Little Padres rested on the 13-0 score for the rest of the game. A green but hard-tackling Gilroy jayvee squad proved rough to handle on the ground and played the winners even-up during the entire second half. A pair of rugged linebackers, Bill Coleman and Danny Moore, sparked the Little Padres on defense and served to throttle the Pony offense.

CARMEL HIGH TENNIS SQUAD BLANKS GONZALES

Coach Ray Gere's veteran Padre tennis team picked up win number two of the current season by clipping host Gonzales, 7 to 0, last Saturday morning. The Carmel racket-wielders have taken the measure of Salinas and Santa Cruz but were tripped up by the strong Monterey High squad.

Results in the singles play at Gonzales were: Chris Keeble (C) defeated Nick Rosales (G) 6-2, 6-4. Jim MacGowan (C) defeated Steve Gronigen (G), 6-0, 6-1. Jeff Bannister (C) defeated Harry Stephens (G), 6-0, 6-3. Steve Fairfield (C) defeated Rudy Garcia (G), 6-2, 6-4. Page Van Loben Sels (C) defeated Tom Handley (G), 7-5, 6-3. Doubles results: Keeble and MacGowan defeated Rosales and Gronigen, 6-1, 6-1. Bannister and Fairfield defeated Stephens and Garcia, 6-1, 6-2.

CLEAT MARKS

Coach Hadley Hicks' neophyte Carmel High lightweight football team hopped the bus at 7:00 o'clock Saturday morning and journeyed to King City for a joust with the Mustang midgets. The ambitious freshman-laden lightweight squad was trimmed by King City, 18 to 6, but picked up lots of valuable game experience and enjoyed the educational values of travel while enroute to King

Murray Has No Time For Rumple Hair Conducting Antics

"As for community patronage, I believe most people appreciate the fact that no other way of listening to music can approximate the living performance."

This brisk amiability of Earl Bernard Murray—friends say he only recently has chosen to include his middle name as part of his professional identification—has set the tone for all his associations so far with local musicians.

Rehearsals begin on the instant; coffee breaks are cut to the minimum; workouts are thorough and precise, and individual conscientiousness among musicians is stirred, leading to more interim practice on the part of single players and small groups.

Precision and fastidiousness show up also in the visual side of rehearsals as bespectacled Murray, in suit jacket and conservative tie, looking a bit like a business executive, can surely never be claimed by the rumpled-hair school of conducting.

Remarkable is probably the word for the professional record of Earl Murray, even in the field of music where early flowering of talent is not rare.

Now only 33, he was a protege of Pierre Monteux, a fourth-generation musician in a professionally musical family, and son of a bandmaster and San Francisco symphonist.

A native San Franciscan, he attended Bay area schools, the University of California and L'Ecole Monteux in Maine. Beginning in his fifth year, he studied piano, cello, double bass, horn and trumpet.

At 16 he joined the San Francisco Symphony as trumpet player, becoming the youngest member in the history of the orchestra. For 14 years he played in symphony, opera and radio orchestras under Monteux, Stravinsky and other notable conductors.

His apprenticeship in conducting began as early as age 12. By 1951-52 he was a rehearsal conductor of the San Francisco Symphony for Monteux, in 1953 became assistant conductor, and in 1957 took on his present duties as associate conductor.

In addition to his work with the ballet and his position as symphony and opera director at San Francisco State, he has been a guest conductor of the Boston Symphony Esplanade series, was visiting conductor of orchestras in Latin America and musical director of the San Francisco Opera's Foi de Roi.

When he became conductor of the Monterey orchestra this June, he said his interests and those of Mrs. Murray (the former Gloria Lobel whom he wed in 1946) "aside from music" revolved around travel, reading, the theater and

Now he has amended that to, "music absorbs more and more of my time."

"We are planning to exploit fully our home talent," Murray said, continuing his account of plans for this year with a thought he had expressed locally before. "We are going to encourage resident talent to remain here. But we are fortunate to be near metropolitan centers from which we can obtain materials and help when necessary."

"Of course everything we need costs money—music, rentals, occasional soloists. It would be unrealistic not to keep that constantly in mind and before the community."

Murray has been called "America's most promising young conductor." And he has been roundly commended for his versatility in handling the wide ranges of music from traditional to contemporary in symphony, opera and ballet.

He brings all this versatility to Monterey County, explaining that he does not specialize in any single type of music for a particular reason. "I believe a conductor is obligated to the community to present as varied as possible a selection of music from all periods and places."

When he cut short the intermission and hurried back onto the podium for more work on the Franck symphony, it was with gusto and a show of great pleasure in the work ahead.

Two Ionesco Plays Open Tonight At Studio Theatre

Opening tonight at The Studio in Carmel will be Richard Bailey's production of two Ionesco plays: The Chairs and The Bald Soprano. Performances for the six-week run will begin at 8:30 o'clock each Thursday through Sunday evening.

Major roles in The Chairs have been assigned to Russell Eddy and Rachel Hoffman, both of whom are well-known Peninsula actors. The cast of The Bald Soprano includes Shiela Goldes, Joe Dalglish, Rachel Hoffman, Mariahne Bushore and Russell Eddy.

The Chairs is a probing examination of the values of contemporary existence, while The Bald Soprano chooses to poke fun at the routine inanities of everyday living.

Audubon Society Announces Field Trips, Lectures

Dr. Robert Parsons will give a talk on The Birdlife of Spain to his fellow-members and their friends, at the monthly meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society tomorrow night at 8:00 o'clock, in the Carmel High School Library. To quote Dr. Parsons "The birdlife of Spain is the most remarkable and in many respects the richest of any part of Europe." Dr. Parsons will also relate his experiences on the Guadalquivir River in the Coto Donana region where there are the greatest reserves of wildlife to be found anywhere today.

On Saturday there will be a field trip to Mt. Hermon and the Felton area. Members and friends are asked to meet at Ocean and Felker Streets, near the Colonial Inn, Santa Cruz, at 9:00 o'clock in the morning and bring lunch.

On October 18, the field trip will be at Big Sur State Park, meeting inside the park, at the first parking area beyond the Ranger checking station, at 9:00 o'clock. Bring lunch.

On October 25 the group will observe shore birds at Moss Landing, meeting on Jetty Road (formerly Construction Road) at 9:00 o'clock. Bring lunch.

Co-sponsored by the Carmel Unified School District and the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society, the Audubon screen tour series opens on October 23 at 8:00 o'clock in the evening at the Sunset School Auditorium, with Emerson Scott showing colored pictures entitled Rocky Mountain Rambles.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

Ruth Galvin Thornburg, Librarian

The east coast has strikes, the mid-west has floods, San Francisco has fires, Los Angeles has the world series, and we have books. Good books, the reading of which will promote healthy blood pressure and large brain cells, or at least that's what we say it will promote. Looking for a house about this time last year, this librarian was dismayed to find so few houses with built-in book shelves. Right here in Carmel, it seemed that most houses were without built-in shelves. What a way to live! If you have book shelves, reserve one for your library books. Saves overdue!

A great many of us are completely sold on the Kiplinger agency, the weekly Kiplinger Letter, the monthly Kiplinger magazine called Changing Times, and the various book publications of the same agency. Comes now a book prepared by the staff of the magazine, and entitled Kiplinger's Family Buying Guide. Be guided, whether or not you are a family, for this book really covers a multitude of problems, such as whether or not you should buy a house, dieting to lose weight, what you should look for or in vitamin compounds, what kinds of insurance you need, and a great many more questions.

That beautiful and dedicated woman, Queen Elizabeth II, is the subject of a book by Dorothy Laird which is entitled How the Queen Reigns. The author received permission from the Queen to write this book, and the information given here is authentic. Not only does the book give a personal picture of the Queen but also of her duties and powers and the way she conducts her reign. The illustrations are photographs.

The whole thing appears to be very well done.

Having an active card in the coward's union, it has never seemed to this librarian that this business of hitch-hiking around the world was good practice for a woman, unless she had a huge wart on the tip of her nose or some other equally disfiguring feature. But the one picture of Jill Wordsworth shows her to be pretty enough, and yet her book called I Followed the Sun is the story of her hitch-hiking trip from England to Africa. Safari, anyone?

In 1899 a biography was published of General Nathan Bedford Forrest, famous fighter of the Civil War. This year it has been re-edited, embellished with maps and photographs, and issued again under the title That Devil Forrest. It was written by John Wyeth, and this re-issue is no doubt timed for the on-coming centennial of the war.

The made simple type of book has a firm place in our reading society, and a new one is by John Sedgewick and is entitled Art Appreciation Made Simple. We have a copy of our own and a county copy for art appreciators who use only county books.

The Complete Book of Hot Rodding was done by the editors of Hot Rod magazine. Unfettered by our total ignorance of motors, we still say this book looks complete and valuable and we hope that devotees of the art of hot rodding will borrow it and go on to bigger and better enjoyment of cars and driving.

There are several new novels this week, and more non-fiction, ignored for purposes of brevity in this piece. See for yourself.

Mr. Carr's winning picture was an oil study of Monterey Wharf. A marine oil painting won second place for Kay Morris.

Wolfgang Pirschel Opposed In Marriage Takes Own Life

Wolfgang Pirschel, 19, was found dead in his home on Saturday, apparently from a self-inflicted gunshot wound. His body was discovered by his uncle, Edward Karl Walser, with whom the youth lived on Mt. Devon Road in Carmel Highlands.

According to County Coroner Christopher Hill Jr., correspondence disclosed that Pirschel became despondent over objections to marriage plans.

He was born on February 14, 1940, in Strahlsund, Germany, and came to the United States 14 months ago at the invitation of his uncle. He was employed as a busboy at Highlands Inn.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Pirschel, and a brother and sister, all living in Germany, survive him.

Private funeral services were held yesterday morning in the Mission Mortuary.

THE CARIBOU

*The caribou
sensed the blue
wild sky*

*At the curved rim of woodland
and snowland*

The soil pressed firm at his leap out of sleep

*The lightning sound
from pure sky
and dry ground*

*The great white snow
prints below*

The flow of red where he bled traced in snow

*The caribou
sensed the blue
wild sky.*

—ROBERT L. PETERS

LESSONING OF STARS

Criteria do not disturb a star (as, what is wise, successful or immense).

*The standards man has come to worship are of earth, misshapen in the mold of sense;
and piteously he fumbles to combine these coarse ingredients with some divine.*

But where the firmament unrolls in space beyond man with his frantic, feeble clod the constellations order time and place by simply channelling the will of God.

—HELEN FAULKNER

BOAT-WAKE

(Tanka)

*The swift boat gathers
in its fanning white plumage
The fallen feathers
Of fog, cloud down forgotten
In the slow waters, till now.*

—EDITH LODGE

CRIED BY WINGING BIRDS

*I'd write with a pen of apple wood
And sing in a rose-red gown.
I'd hide my secret name, if I could,
Under a rock, deep down.*

*But rose-red wine will flow from my words;
White blossoms twine my hair.
A name will be cried by winging birds:
Stone without Ivy is bare.*

—VERA T. MARSHALL

Lester Rowntree Writes New Book For Young People

Viking Press has just released another children's book written by Lester Rowntree of Carmel Highlands. It is Denny and the Indian Magic. The illustrations are by Roberta Moynihan.

Mrs. Rowntree has used her extensive knowledge of the Mojave desert and its ecology to create the setting for her story. The hero is eight-year-old Denny who lives on a desert ranch and for companions has his dog Sambo, his pony Pima and assorted wild animals, including a ground squirrel, a rabbit, a covey of quail, a desert fox and a coyote.

The lad longs to be able to communicate with his friends. He believes that Mojave Owl, a blind Indian, knows the secret of animal language and wants to talk to the hermit.

A Christmas visit is arranged by the ranch cowboy, Jim, but Denny does not learn the language of the animals from the old Indian. On the way home he has an accident and his eyes are injured. Temporarily blinded and hospitalized in Los Angeles, Denny makes many discoveries and returns home to greater joys than before his accident.

Mrs. Rowntree left last week for another visit to the Mojave desert. She is a naturalist and for nearly 40 years has made her home here and carried on a business in wild flower seeds originally gathered on wilderness camping trips, on foot, on burros and on horseback.

Last year, an accident during a field trip resulted in a detached retina which caused six months of blindness and still impedes her vision. Her experiences during this period are incorporated into the story of Denny and the Indian Magic.

In addition to children's fiction, Mrs. Rowntree is the author of Hardy Californians and Flowering Shrubs of California.

Remember The Barn Door Canteen?

Carlos Dieguez, one-time Carmelite now living in Berkeley (remember the dashing figure on the high-stepping, satin coated horse?) in a nostalgic letter to the Pine Cone says:

"I cannot help but think that it has been only a matter of 15 years or so since these pleasant recollections took place.

"It was during these years that Salvador Dali made a lengthy stay at Del Monte Lodge, where I understand that he was given to the enjoyment of his favorite dish, lobster thermidor. In that same year Senor Dali was invited to attend a performance of the Carmel USO Barn Door Canteen, as it was fittingly called due to its bucolic atmosphere, with the silhouette of a wooden cow hanging from the ceiling above the performers' heads.

"Senor Dali graciously condescended to attend the performance and was duly seated at what was known as The Angels Roost, where he was seen to be twisting his long and carefully tended mustache, which at the time seemed fitting for a different atmosphere than where he sat.

"On another occasion, the military were most pleased to have the most charming Miss Janis Page of Hollywood honor the Barn Door Canteen with her presence, at which time the usual photographs were made, with Miss Page gracefully seated at the piano, while below and surrounding her were Mrs. Ruth Cooke, mistress of ceremonies of said USO, Helen MacKinstry, Hazel Dale, Bob Blaine (the guitarist for the evening) and the writer. This was in 1943 to be exact.

"I recall with pleasure the fine USO performances of Carolita Splane, the Spanish dancer; Jose Manero, a dancer and singer of varied repertoire and colorful costumes. Diana Ayers, the former Baby Peggy of the silent movies, who entertained her audiences with western songs; George Marion, a fine artist in his own right, and of course my old friend Red Eagle, a master of rope tricks, and even at his advanced age, still a fine horseman, as well as many others who gladly contributed to the servicemen's enjoyment on those Saturday evenings."

Ernest Calleys Show Pottery At Carmel Library

There is double interest in the monthly exhibit of The Carmel Crafts Guild in their display case at Harrison Memorial Library, for it includes the work of a well known husband-and-wife team of craftsmen, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Calley, who create their originals in a large workshop called the Garrapata Pottery on Garrapata Ridge above Palo Colorado Canyon.

Mr. Calley is well known on the Peninsula as a teacher of wood working. After his retirement, they traveled to England and Scotland, where Mrs. Calley did many paintings, which were recently exhibited in a one-man show at Town House.

Mrs. Calley, who since her childhood in England has been interested in arts and crafts, studied pottery in London from one of the potters of the Royal Doulton firm.

Laughingly they admitted, they didn't know which thrilled them most, the first prize Mr. Calley received for the onions he grew in their garden or the first prize Mrs. Calley received for her pottery at the Monterey County Fair.

Confirming the saying, "If you build a better mouse trap, people will beat a path to your door," the Calleys find that a surprising number of people follow the Visitors Welcome sign near the coast highway and find their way up to their studio with its sweeping view of the coast.

Oriental Wedding For Gail

On Saturday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, Gail Hartman became the bride of Anthony Del Arros of Oakland. The ceremony took place at the Carmel Valley home of the bride's father, Robert Hartman, and Mrs. Hartman.

The bride wore a beige silk, two piece Oriental ensemble with coral shoes. She had butterfly orchids in her hair, and pinned coral Oriental lilies to her coral bag. Her attendant, Mrs. Beverly Wilder of Salinas, wore a beige sheath of Oriental design. The groom's mother, Mrs. Manuel Del Arros, chose to wear a blue silk dress and a small white feather-hat for the ceremony. Mrs. Hartman wore a turquoise silk Oriental dress. The bride's father, who gave her away, was also dressed in Oriental attire. Anthony's brother, Manuel Del Arros of Oakland, acted as best man.

The ceremony took place before an altar of carved, golden flowers similar to those which adorn the altars of Buddhist temples. A large golden pleated fan and a gold Buddha holding white lotus blossoms were used as altar decorations. The house was decorated with Oriental floral arrangements, and following the ceremony, the reception carried out the Oriental theme in food and drink.

Dr. Carleton Whitehead of the Church of Religious Service officiated at the marriage. Lucille Ray played the organ.

After a honeymoon, the bride and groom will live in Oakland. Gail attended Salinas and Carmel high schools. Anthony attended Fremont High School and St. Mary's College.

Mrs. Tiruchelvam Sees Schools

Mrs. Punithan Tiruchelvam, wife of the Solicitor General of Ceylon and assistant director of the Ceylon Junior Red Cross, visited Sunset School and Carmel High School on Monday. She spoke to the students during an assembly at Sunset, visited classrooms, then lunched with high school students after visiting the study hall, library and classrooms at the high school.

Mrs. Tiruchelvam stressed the beauty of their surroundings in her talks with students, admired Carmel's fine school buildings and the abundance of books available to the students.

Ceylonese children, said Mrs. Tiruchelvam, have great facility with their hands and she was fascinated by books in Carmel schools which show how to draw and create in ceramics and crafts.

"The salvation of my country," she said, "is small industry, so we must give our young people encouragement in developing their talents and to do things with their hands."

Mrs. Tiruchelvam was the guest of the Carmel chapter of the American Red Cross during her visit here.

Wanita Parkes To Wed October 17

The recent engagement of Wanita Ruth Parkes to one of her countrymen, Aram G. Der Zakarian, was announced on the evening of September 27, before 700 of his friends, during a church fund raising benefit dinner, at the Fresno Holy Trinity Armenian Apostolic Church, at the request of the visiting Archbishop Khoren Paroyan, when he learned of the event.

George Mardikian, who was toastmaster of the evening, a friend of Aram's for over 30 years, officially announced the engagement, presenting Wanita by her Armenian name, Satenig.

Aram and Satenig plan to be married in Carmel on October 17 at 2:00 o'clock at All Saints' Episcopal Church, the service being similar to that of the Apostolic Church. They will welcome all their friends, who can attend, to the wedding.

Aram, who studied with world famous musicians and followed a career as concert violinist and teacher, has long appreciated the culture and people of this village, and has been attracted also to each festival events. So, he plans, not to make his home in Carmel in the near future.

In more recent years his music has become his avocation due to the time-consuming factors of his present interest as a professional commodity trader and speculator, having been attracted first, by investing his life savings in stocks.

His market speculations have been spectacular and may be familiar to those who were especially interested in this field of activity when in 1956 he attracted nationwide attention through his coup in the Chicago soybean pit. The following year he made market history when he took cash delivery of two million bushels of soybeans in Chicago and held in his possession 84 per cent of the available soybeans there. Within nine months of this activity he made a million and a half dollars.

He has carried on his business from his home with his own ticker and private phone connection direct with the Chicago trading floor.

On the Chicago Board of Trade, of which he is a member, he is known as "the fiddle player with the lion heart and the nerves of steel—and with it all, an inherently modest man."

Charles Clarke Shepard Jr. died on Sunday in a local hospital after a brief illness. He had lived in Carmel since 1946 and on the Peninsula since 1938.

Mr. Shepard was born in Chicago, Illinois, on July 20, 1894. His father, Charles C. Shepard, founded the Ingalls-Shepard Drop Forge Company of Harvey, Illinois, now a division of Wyman-Gordon Company.

Mr. Shepard graduated from Yale University in 1917 and was affiliated with Alpha Delta Phi fraternity during his college years. He was a World War I veteran and during World War II served as chairman of the Monterey County civilian aircraft warning system which he also helped establish. He was also a past president of the Monterey USO.

Prior to his retirement, Mr. Shepard was associated with the brokerage firm of Winthrop-Mitchell in Omaha, Nebraska. He was a member of the Elks Club in Omaha, and on the Peninsula belonged to the Carmel American Legion Post, and the Monterey Peninsula Country Club. He was a past president of the Beach Club.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. M. Eleanor Shepard of Carmel; a son, Andrew J. Shepard of Santa Rosa; a daughter, Mrs. Roland S. Breen of San Francisco; and four grandchildren, Susan and Marcy Shepard of Santa Rosa and Ronald and Eleanor Bennett of Carmel.

Dr. Carleton Whitehead of the Church of Religious Science officiated at funeral services for Mr. Shepard on Monday afternoon in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea.

Ralbourn-Payne Wedding

Mrs. Frances Payne of Salinas and Tex Raibourn were married on Sunday by Judge Ray Baugh at Palo Corona Ranch. The couple are now on a three-week honeymoon trip to Texas.

Mrs. Raibourn is the mother of Donald Payne of Robles del Rio and Mrs. Jannine Kindall of Salinas. Her brothers are Mark and Pearson Wilmot of Carmel Valley.

The marriage took place in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish and was attended by 150 persons. Mrs. Kindall was her mother's attendant and Donald Payne gave his mother in marriage. Mrs. Donald Payne sang, I Love You Truly, and, Because, following the marriage.

The bride wore a beige coat dress with a rolled collar and full skirt, matching shoes, a tiny veiled bow hat, trimmed with pearls, and carried three white orchids.

The bride and groom cut their tiered wedding cake before leaving on their honeymoon. The cake was topped with two pearl-trimmed white bells and surrounded with an arrangement of maiden-hair fern, gardenias and bouvardia.

On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Raibourn will live on Palo Corona Ranch. Mr. Raibourn is associated in operating the ranch with Mr. Fish.

Miss Johns was an active member of the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society during her years in Carmel.

Survivors are a niece, Mrs. Jeanette Wells McDaniel of Carmel, and a nephew, James Norton Wells of Menlo Park.

Private funeral services will be held tomorrow. Paul Mortuary is in charge of arrangements.

Opus One Owner Looking For Spot On The Peninsula

Winfield Aston, owner of Opus One, a restaurant-bar on Montgomery Street in San Francisco, came to Carmel this week to arrange a series of chamber music concerts similar to those he produces at Opus One, if he can find a location.

He hopes shortly to present Donald Pippin, pianist, in a Schubert program. Later he will bring Pippin here for two more concerts to be followed with Baroque chamber music performances.

Mr. Aston says musicians are delighted to give chamber music concerts in a small place with an intimate atmosphere, conditions similar to those for which chamber music was written. He says that in Opus One, the audience does not even permit ice to tinkle in a glass during a performance.

Among musicians who have appeared at Opus One are Gregory Millar, former director of the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra, Helen Stross and Miriam Zinssner who have both played with the local symphony.

PICK COMMITTEE HEADS

The Carmel Arts Festival coordinating committee will meet on Monday at 5:00 o'clock in City Hall to discuss time and financing for the event planned for 1960, if possible.

Chosen to plan events for the festival and select committee members and permanent chairmen were: art, Harold Smithson; music, Mrs. Gilbert Boyer; drama, Peg Minor; literature, Mrs. Frank Lloyd; dance, Mrs. Dorothy Dean Stevens; crafts, Remo Scardigli; business, August Nieto.

"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon at Christian Science services Sunday.

God's healing and saving power will be brought out in readings from the Bible which include this verse from Isaiah (52:9): "Break forth into joy, sing together, ye waste places of Jerusalem: for the Lord hath comforted his people, he hath redeemed Jerusalem."

Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include (248:29): "Let unselfishness, goodness, mercy, justice, health, holiness, love—the kingdom of heaven—reign within us, and sin, disease, and death will diminish until they finally disappear."

The Golden Text is from Psalms (67:1, 2): "God be merciful unto us, and bless us; and cause his face to shine upon us; that thy way may be known upon earth, thy saving health among all nations."

Norberg Charges Youth Center Lacks Moral Restraints

want to elaborate. The mayor insisted. Norberg finally said that when he was in charge of a Boy Scout troop some of the boys dated some girls to attend a Youth Center dance, "and the girls' parents phoned me about it."

The mayor said that the Carmel Youth Center, because of its self-government policy, is the only successful Youth Center on the Monterey Peninsula. "There have been a long series of turmoil in the others."

"You're saying a youth center should be perfect," Chitwood continued. "I think that's impossible, when there are 750 kids with 750 ideas."

Patricia Hall, in the audience, said: "These are serious charges. I think Mr. Norberg should be more explicit or make a retraction."

From the glowering around the council table and throughout the audience, apparently a number of people agreed with her.

Francis Whitaker rescued Norberg by asking a question about financing the center, the mayor answered it, and somebody moved for adoption of the ordinance.

There were four yes votes, one no, Norberg's.

Carmel Valley Woman Killed In Accident On Tuesday Morning

Marta Nagy, 41, was killed in an accident on the Carmel Valley road on Tuesday morning. She was the wife of Dr. Elemer J. Nagy, an instructor at the Army Language School. With her in the car was her son, Peter, 14. He received minor injuries and was taken to the Peninsula Community Hospital for treatment. Mrs. Nagy was the proprietor of a fashion studio at San Carlos and Fifth Streets.

The accident occurred at 7:45 o'clock a little under two miles east of Highway 1. Mrs. Nagy, driving west, passed another car. Returning to her own lane she apparently lost control of her car, according to the California Highway Patrol report. The car swerved

Vote On Peninsula Junior College In May

tract." The board also asked for a survey of the proposed area.

This action is in compliance with the request of Carmel and Pacific Grove school board members, meeting with Monterey on September 28, that the Monterey High School Board divorce their Monterey Junior College from the high school district, form a separate junior college district with the same boundaries of the Monterey High School District, so that if Carmel and Pacific Grove wish to annex to Monterey Junior College, the voters of the annexing districts would be able to vote separately in their own district. So long as the junior college is a part of the Monterey High School District, annexation issue would be decided in a Peninsula-wide election, in which Carmel's vote would be swamped.

The calendar for the formation of the Monterey Junior College district, and the subsequent annexation elections of the smaller districts to the Monterey district, as worked out by the Monterey board last night is:

Petitions to the State Board of Education by October 9.

State Board of Education act on petition at their November 5-6 meeting in Orange County State College in Fullerton.

If survey is favorable, the State Board of Education asks county superintendent of schools in December to call an election in March, 1960, when the Monterey High School District voters decide if they wish to form a junior college district with the same boundaries of their high school district.

If the Carmel board decides to call an election in its district for annexation to the Monterey Junior College District, it could be held in May.

Since Pacific Grove stipulates it will not vote to annex to Monterey Junior College until it is established that Carmel will come in, and a 60-day lapse is necessary for calling an election, the Pacific Grove election would be held in July, 1960, provided that Carmel had voted favorably on joining the Monterey district.

Assuming both elections had carried, the next step is petitioning the county committee of school district organization to establish trustee areas, and an election of trustees could be held in November 1960. The candidates would stand from the different trustee areas but would be voted upon by the entire new junior college district.

If there were no hitches and everybody voted yes, the earliest possible date for the Monterey Peninsula Junior College District to become effective would be July 1, 1961.

ed back and forth across the road, struck an embankment, then rolled over three times. Mrs. Nagy was thrown out of the vehicle.

Mrs. Nagy was born on May 2, 1918, in Kaposvar, Hungary. She lived in Germany before coming to the United States in 1945. After living in New York she came to Monterey eight years ago. Recently she moved to Carmel Valley.

Besides her husband and son, Mrs. Nagy is survived by a brother and sister, Anthony Serenyi Jr. and Emma Serenyi, both living in

Jennie Wolter Wins High 4-H Honor, Trip To Chicago

Carmelo 4-H member Jennie Wolter will attend the thirty-eighth National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, November 29-December 3, as the result of being chosen first alternate in Girls' Leadership for the State of California in the national 4-H awards program.

Jennie is also Monterey County 4-H Girl All-Star. She has been active in Carmelo 4-H Club for 10 years. During this time she has completed 34 projects, including such varied ones as swine, beef and sheep raising, food preparation, the making of clothing, uses of electricity and junior leadership.

She has held many offices in the local club and has represented Monterey County and Carmelo 4-H Club at State 4-H conventions.

Jennie's chief interest as she progressed in club work was in encouraging and helping younger members. She also helped to initiate new ideas and more varied activities into 4-H Club work.

Mayor Loses Fight To Eliminate Forest Com.

a city forester to insure the continuance of a forestry commission; that the forestry commission is simply an advisory body.

Mayor Chitwood didn't believe they could get citizens to serve on the commission if they had no authority and the council turned down their recommendations.

Councilman Buffington said: "I believe if we can find commissioners who can take disappointment with success; it (the commission) should be continued."

Herbert Blanks, Carmel Planning Commission member and also member of the forest commission said that no commission can have assurance that its recommendations will be accepted and a new commission does not need authority until it can find its way around. He urged the continuance of the forest commission for the full term of its trial period, December 1960.

Councilman Gunnar Norberg and members of the audience: Charles Myrick, Patricia Hall, Bob Strum, State Forester John Dowdakin, and William C. Culver, also spoke in support of the forest commission's continuance.

The council voted for the mayor to submit names of appointees for their approval at the next council meeting.

Hungary.

Funeral services were held this morning at 11:00 o'clock in the Dorney and Farlinger Chapel.
